Today's reading is from the poet, Lucy Grace,
from her collection of poetry, "The Untamable Light."

It is called, "Great Spirit."

Move me.
Return me
to the borders of my body
that you may take me
where you want me.
Work through me.
Use my hands,
these feet,
this tongue,
the sweat from this brow.
Take any humble skill
I may have, for your work.
Colonize my heart with your love,
that I may bring heaven to earth
through these cells – NOW.
That I may fill the world
with understanding, kindness,
compassion-not wait for some
other body to do it.
Infuse me.
Lead me lead with love, even within
the tyranny of my own humanity.
Let me BE your humility, walking.
Imbue me.
I am wholly, completely,
devastatingly
Yours.
And So It Is
